

Fall Is Time to Save Your Hemlocks

Late September through mid-December is a time-critical window to treat hemlocks for the woolly adelgid that's killing them. It's an easy process, safe to do, and inexpensive, especially compared to the cost of removing large dead trees and the potential loss of property value.

YOU can save your trees. Save Georgia's Hemlocks can help. Join us, become a volunteer, or make a tax-deductible donation.

Don't let THIS happen to your trees!

To learn more, contact Save Georgia's Hemlocks at 706-429-8010 or visit savegeorgiashemlocks.org.